

Affordable, cross-platform AAC. Every voice deserves to be heard.

What Sayella is

Sayella is an augmentative and alternative communication (AAC) app for children and adults who are nonverbal or minimally verbal, spanning emergent symbol users through to literate text users. It runs on iPad, iPhone, Android and the web, so a learner keeps one vocabulary across every device they use at home, at school and in clinic. Sayella is a communication tool, not a medical device, and makes no diagnostic or treatment claims.

BUILT ON ESTABLISHED AAC PRACTICE

- Research-informed core vocabulary that stays in a stable place as it grows
- Modified Fitzgerald colour key, grouping words by part of speech
- Aided language modelling and find-this-word tools for coaching between sessions
- Grid sizes from a few large tiles to a dense robust layout, on one engine

DATA, SAFEGUARDING & PORTABILITY

- UK-based, GDPR-aligned, with a published privacy policy
- Analytics are anonymous and carry no message content
- In-app account deletion and clear consent
- Open Board Format import and export, so your boards are never locked in

ACCESS & INCLUSION

- Direct touch, with adjustable hold-to-activate for tremor
- VoiceOver and TalkBack screen-reader support
- High-contrast options, and colour is never the only signal
- Switch and auditory scanning are on the roadmap, held back until tested with real switches
- We target WCAG 2.2 AA and publish an accessibility statement

FOR TEAMS & SERVICES

- Free therapist and family accounts to build and model collaboratively
- Progress insights and a shareable summary for reviews
- Family licence covers one learner free, up to five on a paid plan
